

Figure S1 Protein interaction network. Each node represents a protein, and the line between nodes represents the interaction between the two proteins. The size of the node represents the number of the interacting proteins.