

Supplementary Figure S1: Fitted detection curves for study species: A) Cock-tailed Tyrant; B) Black-masked Finch; and C) Wedge-tailed Grass-finch representing the probability of detection in relation to the perpendicular distance from the transect line. Where necessary, observed distance data was truncated and for all species (see methods).