

Figure S4. The dependence of relative water content in pea leaves on duration of water shortage ( $n=6$ ). The water shortage was induced by elimination of irrigation in experimental seedlings; control plants were irrigated every 2 days. * indicates that experimental and control parameters were significantly differed ( $p<0.05$ ).  $n$  is number of repetitions. Bars show standard errors.