

For some time, we found that there was a problem with the exposure machine in the laboratory. Although sgd format of pictures were saved in some western blot results, marker images were still not displayed. The picture in the red box is just that.