

Figure S1. Overview of the establishment of microplots with soils naturally infested with Verticillium dahliae, and the symptoms of the disease, in a trial where the influence of fertilization and its interaction with irrigation frequency on the development of Verticillium wilt of olive (VWO) were evaluated in the olive cultivar Picual.