

Figure S2. Morphological comparison of donor plants (D) of Helianthus verticillatus and their respective regenerants (R1 to R3) grown in greenhouse. There were no noticeable phenotypic differences among regenerated plants as well as between them and their respective donor plants. The propagated plants were characterized by the same leaves' morphology as donor plants.