Aims

Biologics (ISSN 2673-8449) provides an advanced forum for findings on all aspects of biologics derived from both novel and established biotechnologies. It publishes reviews, research papers, and communications in all areas of biologicals and at the interface of related disciplines. Our aim is to encourage scientists to publish their experimental and theoretical results in as much detail as possible. There is no restriction on the maximum length of the papers. Full experimental and/or methodical details must be provided so that the results can be reproduced. Electronic files or software regarding the full details of the calculation and experimental procedure – if impossible to publish in a normal way – can be deposited as supplementary material.

Scope

Biologics are products of living systems. This journal addresses all aspects of the therapeutic use of biologics, as well as companion diagnostics meant to determine patients most likely to benefit from these agents. Biologics include synthetic products that are chemically similar to the natural product, such as modified recombinant proteins.
