

Special Issue

Skin Cancer

Message from the Guest Editor

Melanoma and non-melanoma skin cancers are the most common form of cancer in the United States and many other countries. This special issue of Cancers is an opportunity to report original research and discoveries in the field of skin cancer, such as dermatopathology, treatment, epidemiology, and cancer prevention.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Cancers is an international online journal addressing both clinical and basic science issues related to cancer research. The journal is publishing in Open Access format, which will certainly evolve to ensure that the journal takes full advantage of the rapidly changing world of information and knowledge dissemination. It publishes high-quality clinical, translational, and basic science research on cancer prevention, initiation, progression, and treatment, as well as other related topics, particularly to capture the most seminal studies in the rapidly growing area of immunology, immunotherapy, and tumor microenvironment.
