Five Years of Coatings: Coatings Science and Technology for the 21st Century

Message from the Guest Editor

Coatings has ended its fifth year of publication. In this time, the journal has experienced a steady growth and it is now affirmed as a leading platform for scientific papers in the fields of materials science and the technology of coatings. To celebrate the journal, I have the honor to edit a new featured Special Issue. The Special Issue will collect original research papers from the frontier of research, as well as review articles from prominent scholars highlighting the state-of-the-art of science and technology. I invite researchers and technologists, whose work focuses on coatings and related applications, to contribute with papers disseminating their excellent research findings. We are looking forward to receiving your work.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Now more than ever, research is asked to deliver knowledge and technologies to solve the major challenges faced by our society. The development of new materials and devices for (without the ambition to be exhaustive) energy, health and food technology, together with the need for establishing processes that reduce the impact on critical resources and the environment, is indeed in the spotlight of most contemporary research. Surface science and engineering play a key role in this regard, with an incredible potential in delivering new and deep scientific understanding and technical solutions essential to solve most of the major societal challenges.

Coatings is a well-established, peerreviewed, online journal dedicated to the vibrant field of surface science and engineering. Coatings publishes original research articles that report cutting-edge results and review papers that make the point on the hottest research topics.
