Bird Parasites-2nd Edition

Message from the Guest Editor

In this Special Issue, we seek to bring together papers that will advance our overall knowledge of bird parasites, and provide a further foundation for our ability to conduct studies that can, for example, 1) test ecological theory, 2) provide an improved understanding of biogeographic patterns and the drivers of those patterns, 3) allow for the predictive modelling of parasite distributions based on climate change predictions, 4) improve our knowledge of parasite effects on host fitness, and 5) allow for broader assessments of host specialization versus host generalism by parasites and the factors underlying these strategies. Keywords

- avian parasites
- taxonomic diversity and host associations
- host-parasite interactions
- ecological assessment and modelling
- biogeographical distribution
- climate change effects

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Diversity (ISSN 1424-2818) is a scholarly journal that covers all areas of diversity research. Our distinguished editorial board and refereeing process ensures the highest degree of scientific rigor for publishing. Original research articles and timely reviews are released online, with unlimited free access.

We invite papers and reviews on multidisciplinary topics of diversity that bridge organismic diversity (systematics, biodiversity, phylogeny, population genetics, and evolution) and molecular diversity (phytochemistry and biophysics).

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubAg, GEOBASE, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Biodiversity Conservation) / CiteScore - Q2
(Agricultural and Biological Sciences (miscellaneous))

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 15.4 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 3.5 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2024).
