

Special Issue

Real-Time Computer Vision

Message from the Guest Editors

This is an open opportunity for you to publish your work in a Special Issue on real-time computer vision. In this Special Issue, we call for publications in the following research areas:

- State-of-the-art computer vision methodology;
- Computer vision methods applicable to real-time applications, such as robotics, medicine, security, manufacturing, construction, etc.;
- Generative computer vision models;
- Other related emerging areas of computer vision research are also welcomed.

The success of the Special Issue will augment our capability to transform research into meaningful applications that can impact and model our societies. We look forward to working with our colleagues for the success of the Special Issue in impacting the computer vision community.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Electronics is a multidisciplinary journal designed to appeal to a diverse audience of research scientists, practitioners, and developers in academia and industry. The journal is devoted to fast publication of latest technological breakthroughs, cutting-edge developments, and timely reviews of current and emerging technologies related to the broad field of electronics. Experimental and theoretical results are published as regular peer-reviewed articles or as articles within Special Issues guest-edited by leading experts in selected topics of interest.
