

Special Issue

Urban Forests and Greening for Sustainable Cities

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue invites contributions and reports new research and findings on the ecology and innovation aspects of urban forests and urban green spaces and their sustainable management. Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Impacts of urban forests and urban greening on air, soil, and water
- Urban greening strategies to increase biodiversity and ecological value in cities
- Sustainable practices and technologies for urban forestry and urban greening
- Innovative approaches to plant and canopy management in urban areas
- Innovative approaches to plant pest management in urban environments
- Designing urban forests and green spaces to promote ecological balance
- Integrating urban green spaces to enhance biodiversity corridors
- Entomofauna in urban environments
- Ecosystem services provided by urban forests
- Carbon balance in urban forests
- The benefit of urban forests to urban climate

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Forests (ISSN 1999-4907) is an international and cross-disciplinary, scholarly forestry journal. The distinguished editorial board and refereeing process ensures the highest degree of scientific rigor and review of all published articles. Original research articles and timely reviews are released online, with unlimited free access. Our goal is to have Forests be recognized as one of the foremost publication outlets for high quality, leading edge research in this broad and diverse field. We therefore invite you to be one of our authors, and in doing so share your important research findings with the global forestry community.
