

Special Issue

Satellite/Airborne Gravity and Magnetic Investigations

Message from the Guest Editor

I would like to bring to your attention to a Special Issue of Geosciences entitled “Satellite/Airborne Gravity and Magnetic Investigations”. This Special Issue will cover satellite- and airborne-derived gravity and magnetic field measurements with the aim of: (1) prediction of dangerous geodynamic events at a depth; (2) searching for economic minerals; (3) geological–geophysical mapping; (4) development of physical–geological models of deep structures and sub-surfaces; (5) paleomagnetic reconstructions; (6) solving different tectono-geodynamic problems; and (7) integrated analysis of gravity–magnetic data using other geophysical methods. The preliminary deadline for manuscript submission is February 20, 2021. The template for manuscript preparation can be downloaded from

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Understanding the Earth's origin and its bio-geological evolution, the multiple implications of the geosciences (as a coherent set of interconnected disciplines), and the sociocultural and ethical interdisciplinary approaches, will be crucial for a better understanding of Nature, and also for undertaking scientifically based political decisions.

We are committed to drive Geosciences to a position in which it is recognized for its high-quality, cutting-edge research and scientific influence, and strongly encourage and invite your participation and manuscripts.
