

Special Issue

New Insights into Acute Respiratory Distress Syndrome

Message from the Guest Editors

Acute respiratory distress syndrome (ARDS) is a severe, acute lung dysfunction arising from a number of conditions, including severe pneumonia, septicemia, trauma, and also coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) infection. The aim of this Special Issue of the Journal of Clinical Medicine is to investigate the causes and management of ARDS. We would like to offer a platform for health professions to present the current understanding of ARDS, including the diagnosis, treatment, rehabilitation, and outcomes. Furthermore, research reporting the unfortunate mistakes made during the COVID-19 pandemic that exacerbated ARDS is welcome as well.
