

Special Issue

Personalized Medicine in Ear, Nose, Throat, Head and Neck Surgery

Message from the Guest Editor

The Journal of Personalized Medicine will be posting a Special Issue entitled “Personalized Medicine in Ear, Nose, Throat, Head and Neck Surgery”, focusing on the unique aspects of our field in the unique settings and subsites of otolaryngology. We aim to present breakthroughs in the fields of subtyping of the different diseases, oncological treatments tailored to genomic data, novel classifications of known pathologies, and implementations of novel technologies to unique and challenging cases. We also aim to demonstrate cutting edge AI tools and computational data studies, and their relevance in the personalization of medical cases in the field of otolaryngology. We are looking forward to hear from you.
