Urban Ecosystem Services: 5th Edition

Message from the Guest Editors

We are pleased to announce a Special Issue of Land entitled "Urban Ecosystem Services: 5th Edition".

Urbanization, population growth, and climate change are exerting negative impacts on ecosystem services (ES) in cities and assessing and estimating the losses of ES due to rapid urban expansion has come to play a significant role in sustainable urban development.

However, studies on the effects of urbanization on ES have shown inconsistent and sometimes contradictory results. As a continuation of the last Special Issue on "Urban Ecosystem Services IV", this Special Issue will still seek to explore innovative approaches to enhancing urban sustainability and ES in the face of increasing concerns surrounding urbanization:

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Land is the only open access journal covering all aspects of land science, and it is a pioneering platform for publishing on land system science. Our editorial board is comprised of eminent scholars. We publish high quality research on societally relevant, emerging and innovative topics and results in land system research. It is now one of the top land journals with a significant impact factor, and has a goal to become the best journal in land in the coming years. I strongly recommend Land for your best research publications for a fast dissemination of your research.
