Novel Materials Synthesis by Mechanical Alloying/Milling (Second Volume)

Message from the Guest Editor

This is the second Special Issue on this topic. In this Special Issue, the main objectives are to present new scientific and technological issues linked to: a) Synthesis and processing in solid-state science and technology; high-energy milling, severe plastic deformation of materials (SPD), and reaction milling. b) New materials: composites, high-entropy alloys, and materials for energy. c) Structural and functional characterization: microstructure, mechanical properties, thermal stability, and magnetic response. d) New equipment and procedures: milling equipment based on improved milling efficiency. e) Simulation and modeling of the milling process.
