Recent Trends in Resources considering Sustainability, Economy, and Corporate Social Responsibility

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue is intended as a forum for advancing research concerning resources in sustainable development, economy, and corporate social responsibility. This Special Issue invites deep scientific discussions on sustainable resources management, economy-related research on resources, resource governance and policy, recent research trends in energy sources, and corporate social responsibility from both the customer and producer side in resources-based sectors. Submissions may concern but are not limited to the following topics:

- Achievement of sustainable management and efficient use of natural resources;
- Sustainable water and energy policy;
- Sustainable consumption in light of resources;
- Economy-based resources allocation;
- Economy against sustainability in resources management;
- Mineral extraction policy;
- Resource governance and policy;
- Clean energy;
- Renewable and non-renewable energy resources;
- Corporate social responsibility in non-renewable resource-based communities;
- Corporate social responsibility of resources-based sectors.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Responsible prosperity is underpinned by sustained access to resources. Resources, publishes excellent science and scholarship which transforms understanding, practices and policies for conserving all natural resources—from water, land and air; to plant and animal biodiversity; to minerals and energy and their interconnection across scales. Significantly, we invite high quality submissions from natural and social sciences.

Build impact from your research by submitting to Resources, an open-access journal connecting you with data, insights, ideas and evidence needed to shape a better world.
