

Special Issue

Social Safety and Security

Message from the Guest Editor

Social safety in social environments entails the sense of feeling safe with other people. Thus, social safety and security are very important to our life. Although the research in this area has made significant progress in the past few years, there are still many social problems that should be paid attention and that require further development in order to achieve peace of mind. There is a very clear and accurate understanding and judgment of the overall situation of social security in the current and future period. This Special Issue focuses on a number of contemporary issues in social safety and security. The objective of this Special Issue is to rapidly disseminate the latest research and knowledge in this important area. The following areas are of particular interest:

- domestic violence
- sexual aggression and delinquency
- health promotion
- social psychology safety
- risk-related behaviours
- health-related behaviours
- social work safety
- road safety
