

Special Issue

The 10th Anniversary of Separations: Advances in Separation and Analysis of Natural Products/Medicines

Message from the Guest Editors

The current Special Issue will focus on the latest developments in the chromatographic separation and analysis of natural products and medicines, which will cover a range of topics related to the chromatographic separation and analysis of natural products and medicines. Articles will explore the use of various chromatographic techniques, such as high-performance liquid chromatography (HPLC), gas chromatography (GC), and high-speed counter-current chromatography (HSCCC), supercritical fluid chromatography (SFC), for the separation and purification of natural compounds. Additionally, the Issue will highlight the latest developments in sample preparation, detection methods, and separation process.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Separations offers the scientific community a high-quality, open-access journal option with rapid time-to-publication without any sacrifice of a rigorous peer-review process. We invite contributions ranging from fundamental characterization and instrumentation development through application of techniques to shed light on a broad spectrum of separation science needs. Since inception, Separations, has become unique in its combination of rapid publication and thorough scientific content. We invite you to consider us for your next contribution.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 15.1 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.9 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the second half of 2024).

Recognition of Reviewers:

reviewers who provide timely, thorough peer-review reports receive vouchers entitling them to a discount on the APC of their next publication in any MDPI journal, in appreciation of the work done.
