Gender Knowledges and Cultures of Equalities in Global Contexts

Message from the Guest Editors

In this Special Issue of Social Sciences, we invite papers that investigate different knowledges and understandings of gender and equalities, explore people's everyday embodied experiences of in/equalities and foreground the diverse cultural practices developed in different parts of the world to address, enable or enhance equalities. We adopt a critical feminist and decolonial perspective that contests assumptions that cultures of equality originate in and flow from specifically historically dominant spaces and seek to highlight the creative practices that challenge social injustice and enhance gender equalities in diverse cultural contexts. We invite papers that foreground the investigation of the productions and meanings of cultures of in/equality in global contexts and explore the ways through which these arise within a particular set of intersectional gender inequalities. Please submit your proposals and any questions to the Special Issue editor by 1 September 2024. Notification of acceptance will be provided by 1 October 2024.

Keywords: gender; knowledge; equality; cultural contexts; social justice

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Social Sciences is an international open access peer-reviewed journal publishing the latest research across all disciplines of the social sciences including anthropology, criminology, economics, education, geography, history, law, linguistics, political science, psychology, social policy, social work, sociology and related areas. The journal is especially interested in interdisciplinary research, and aims to facilitate the interaction and communication between different social scientific disciplines. The journal welcomes conventional length articles as well as shorter Research Notes or short articles, as long as they meet the journal's standards of quality and originality.
