

Special Issue

Interdisciplinary Perspectives of Climate Change in the Baltic Sea Region

Message from the Guest Editors

We invite you to contribute a full paper to this Special Issue on Interdisciplinary Perspectives of Climate Change in the Baltic Sea Region. The Issue focuses on climate change in the Baltic Sea Region (BSR) context and is open for researchers from different disciplines, within natural science, engineering, social science, and the humanities, as well as interdisciplinary researchers. We welcome original research papers, either with a focus on empirical results or elaborating on theory, as long as it is of relevance to climate change in the BSR. We especially welcome presentations of research findings having an inter-/multidisciplinary approach based on co-operation between colleagues in the Baltic Sea Region.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international Open Access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. Sustainability publishes original research articles, review articles and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
