

Special Issue

Green City Logistics

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue will include papers focused on different topics related to the development of sustainable urban freight transport and the implementation of environmentally friendly solutions in city areas. The authors should focus on the influence of urban freight transport on the environment, including goods distribution in different city types, safety problems in urban freight transport, new trends in ecologistics, the development of innovative measures based on computerization of urban infrastructure, the utilization of telematics systems in urban freight distribution, and the utilization of alternative delivery systems, as well as alternatively fueled vehicles and the implementation of UFT systems based on different transport modes. Special attention will be paid to electro-mobility issues in city logistics as well as autonomous delivery systems.
