Bicycling Today: Establishing and Learning from the State of the Art

Message from the Collection Editors

This Special Issue endeavours to create an interdisciplinary forum that will focus on cycling research advancements and welcomes papers that examine:

- the environmental, health and societal impact of cycling;
- cycling and travel behaviour in metropolitan, urban and rural areas;
- perceptions/attitudes reflecting and affecting cycling use and uptake;
- pro-cycling transport policies and interventions and their impact on cycling adoption and bike usage rates;
- case studies and best practice in bicycling;
- bike-sharing successes and failures (for station-based or dockless bike fleets);
- electric/pedal assisting bicycling usage and acceptance;
- synergies between cycling and public transport;
- synergies between cycling and walking;
- bicycling safety;
- cycling infrastructure and urban planning;
- cycling as a means of nurturing a more sustainable mobility ethos.
