Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Symmetry is ultimately the most important concept in natural sciences. It is not surprising then that very basic and fundamental research achievements are related to symmetry. For instance, the Nobel Prize in Physics 1979 (Glashow, Salam, Weinberg) was received for a unified symmetry description of electromagnetic and weak interactions, while the Nobel Prize in Physics 2008 (Nambu, Kobayashi, Maskawa) was received for the discovery of the mechanism of spontaneous breaking of symmetry, including CP symmetry. Our journal is named Symmetry and it manifests its fundamental role in nature.

Aims

Symmetry (ISSN 2073-8994), an international and interdisciplinary scientific journal, publishes reviews and regular research papers. Our aim is to encourage scientists to publish their experimental and theoretical research in as much detail as possible. There is no restriction on the maximum length of the papers. Full experimental and/or methodical details must be provided, so that results can be reproduced.

Scope

The journal covers research on symmetry/asymmetry phenomena wherever they occur in all aspects of natural sciences. The research scope includes six broad subjects comprising the following sections:

- Mathematics Section;
- Computer Section;
- Engineering and Materials Section;
- Physics Section;
- Life Sciences Section;
- Chemistry: Symmetry/Asymmetry Section.
