New Management and Migration of Pollutants for Agroecosystem Green Development

Message from the Guest Editor

We welcome the submission of high-quality original research papers or review papers to this Special Issue. Potential topics of interest for this Special Issue include the following:

- Soil ecological restoration and environmental management;
- New techniques for reducing the use of fertilizers and pesticides;
- Climate change and agricultural green development;
- Pro-environment or green production practices in agriculture;
- Agricultural waste treatment and resource recycling;
- Detection and control of foul-smelling water bodies in the agroecosystem;
- Emerging contaminants in suburban irrigation rivers associated with an agroecosystem;
- Land use, resource recycling, and environmental economic value assessment;
- Agricultural business strategies for agroecosystem green development;
- Evaluation of green development performance and the effectiveness of pollution control policies;
- Green development policies suitable for the control of agricultural.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Toxics (ISSN 2305-6304) is an international, peer-reviewed, open access journal which provides an advanced forum for studies related to all aspects of toxic chemicals and materials. We aim to publish high quality work that furthers our understanding of the exposure, effects, and risks of chemicals and materials in humans and the natural environment as well as approaches to assess and/or manage the toxicological and ecotoxicological risks of chemicals and materials. Please consider publishing in Toxics when preparing your next paper.
