Message from the Collection Editors

Dear Colleagues,

Health promotion allows people to have greater control of their own health. It covers a wide range of social and environmental interventions aimed at benefit and protect individual health and quality of life through the prevention and solution of the root causes of public health problems. In this line, the effective adaptation of the current models of health intervention is required, in order to adapt attention to health needs and optimize available psychosocio-sanitary resources.

Because of the important impact of this research, we are delighted to invite you to submit papers to be presented at the congress for publication in EJIHPE. This Topical Collection will be guest edited by Dr. María del Carmen Pérez Fuentes. See the Topical Collection website for further details and submission instructions.

This Topical Collection aims to show the excellence of health research and scientific discoveries in related topics. The submission of complete manuscripts of original research on any of the topics of interest is strongly recommended.
